Subject: Excellent article on Homeschooling in November 2011 Edition

Dear editor

Since its inception in 1992, the Association for Homeschooling has promoted the recognition of the right of parents to educate their children within the family in South Africa, as it is recognized in art. 26 of the Universal Declaration of Human Right which states: "Parents have a prior right to choose the kind of education that shall be given to their children."

With this letter, the Association would like to thank Living and Loving for it's contribution towards the recognition of homeschooling by publishing a thorough and open minded article on this subject in the November 2011 edition. This article provides well researched answers to frequently asked questions. It approaches the subject from an open minded educational perspective, and not from a school perspective as is often the case in articles on this subject.

The Association supports parents that consider homeschooling as aan educational option by maintaining the most comprehensive website on homeschooling in South Africa at www.sahomeschoolers.org .

Regards

Bouwe van der Eems
